

SALT LAKE society, as viewed at the Louvre Tuesday night, assumed a decidedly continental Bohemian aspect, which fact impressed itself upon more than one of the on-lookers. That the occasion was indirectly furthering a worthy cause, added to the enjoyment of the evening. The luxurious surroundings, beautifully appointed tables surrounded by handsomely gowned women, escorted by men in full evening dress, bewitching music and softly-shining lights, the vaudeville program beginning when the regular evening performances were over, savored of descriptions of scenes in the gay capitals of the world. When the night came, the well-lighted streets, artistically arranged shop windows and the cold down trying to ignore the inevitable "day after."

In harmony with other sections of the country at this time, Halley's comet seems to be not only the center of attraction and subject for conversation, but is also exercising rather a definite influence over society. Comet parties were at first suggested in rather an abstract spirit of levity, but the thought has borne fruit and on every side the inquiry is heard, "Have you seen the comet?" or, "Shall we get up tomorrow morning and join the star-gazers?" Several pleasantly arranged parties have materialized so successfully that there is a possibility of the craze rapidly spreading.

There is a certain enjoyment in doing something out of the ordinary, and young people who can hardly be dragged out of bed in time for the daily breakfast, cheerfully sit up all night eating impossible meals in the cold down trying to ignore the inevitable "day after."

There are not a few inhabitants of this terrestrial ball who are just a little uneasy as to the possible outcome of the appearance of the comet. They are in sympathy with the little boy who said to his mother, that he wished he knew for certain whether the world would come to an end at the appearance of the comet. When she asked him what he would do if it should be the case, he answered that he would take all of his money out of his little savings bank and spend it just as he pleased.

Week in Society

Rowland Hall was the scene last evening of a beautiful and picturesque affair in the form of the annual dancing party given by the sophomore class. Miss Clara Colburne, Mrs. Lecky and M. Bailey, Misses J. M. Calloway and J. M. Calloway, who acted as the chaperones of the evening. The lawn and buildings were brilliantly lighted and the dancing took place in the large assembly hall, which was cleared for the occasion. The decorations of the spacious hall were very effective with banks of palms and festoons of pink roses and green vines reaching from the ceiling to the corners. The corridor around the open court was fitted up as an arbor with green trellises studded with pink roses. Cozy corners were also arranged in homelike effect. Punch and candies were served under a bower of greenery and the musical program was unusually delightful. Two hundred invitations had been issued for the affair, and the guests present nearly reached that number.

Mrs. W. W. Riter and daughter, Miss Maude Riter, entertained a large number of friends at a quilting party yesterday morning in honor of Miss Marjorie Brooks, whose marriage to Levi Jennings Riter will take place in early June. The Riter home in East First South street was fragrant with spring flowers, and the occasion, which was rather out of the ordinary, was greatly enjoyed by the seventy-five guests, who assembled at 11 o'clock. At 1:30 an elaborate luncheon was served, followed by a pleasant social afternoon.

Yesterday the Country club was well patronized, and the beautiful grounds were well filled throughout the afternoon and evening with members and guests.

A prettily arranged bridge tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. George A. Voris in honor of Mrs. T.

W. Ireland of Golden, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will C. Higgins. The rooms were attractively adorned with a profusion of yellow roses, and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Percival O. Perkins and her sister, Miss Campbell. Mrs. Ireland was also the complimented guest at a pleasant social affair Friday afternoon given by Miss Hilda Greeson.

Mrs. William Reid entertained a large number of children Saturday at a canyon party for her little daughter, Lucille and Janet, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of the former. The party chartered a car for Emigration canyon, where a delightful picnic luncheon was enjoyed by the children, the party returning late in the afternoon.

Miss Gretchen Busch, one of the June brides, was the guest of honor

MISS LUCILLE MAY FRANKE.

Chairman of the educational committee of the Utah Federation of Women's clubs under whose auspices the entertainment will be given Friday at the Lafayette school for the parents of the children of the grade schools. Miss Franke is also one of Salt Lake's most popular young society girls.

yesterday afternoon at a parcel shower given by Mrs. H. Warren Smith and Miss Ivy Snyder, which was one of the pleasant affairs of the week.

An enjoyable dancing party was given last evening at the Knights of Columbus hall by the Bachelor Maids, who include the Misses Frances Shields, Margaret Paul, Genevieve O'Connor, Agnes Welsh, Margaret Cahoon, Mary Owens, Sylvia Cahoon, Birdie Beatty, Ivy Hills and Catherine Owens. The hall was elaborately decorated in red and white, the club colors, and the guests of honor of the evening were visiting high school pupils in the city.

Miss Marie Berkhof entertained at a matinee party yesterday afternoon at the Colonial, in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Harold L. Siegel of Wells, Nev., who is spending some time in the city. A prettily arranged luncheon followed at Franklin's.

Mrs. Prentiss N. Gray has been the complimented guest at several pleasant social affairs during the week, among which were the luncheon given Tuesday by Miss McCormick, and the neighborhood bridge tea presided over by Mrs. P. R. Ferguson Friday afternoon, which was one of the prettiest affairs of the week. Mrs. Russell L. Tracy, Mrs. O. W. Powers and Mrs. George J. Gibson assisted at the tea table, which was attractive with a crystal basket of exquisite spring flowers on a choice lace centerpiece, forming the central decoration.

Perfect in all of its appointments was the reception and afternoon tea given Friday afternoon at the H. G. McMillan home by Mrs. McMillan and daughters, the Misses Mildred and Aline, in honor of Mrs. Charles L. Smith, formerly Miss Bess McMillan, of Frisco. From 3 to 5 o'clock the spacious rooms were thronged with the members of Salt Lake representative society, who were glad to welcome the complimented guest after an absence of many months. The rooms were handsomely decorated for the occasion with masses of bridal wreath and red peonies, with the exception of the dining room, where a color scheme in pink was exquisitely carried out. A basket of pink chetney roses and bridal wreath adorned the center of the tea table, which was lighted by pink-shaded candelabra and lights. A number of leading society women and young girls presided in the dining room, and several young matrons served punch in the living room. An orchestra was in attendance during and Miss Urania White. The parlors were prettily decorated with white carnations, snowballs and plumosus, and the guests were pleasantly entertained during the afternoon by Mrs. Will McDonald, Mrs. A. E. Margetts, the Misses Helen Clark and Urania White and little Amelia Margetts, who sang "The Garden of Roses." A handsomely appointed dinner was served, where a crystal vase of pink carnations and plumosus, in a mound of hawthorne, formed the centerpiece on the table. The following were present: Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. W. H. Hotter, Mrs. Joseph F. Smith, Mrs. Priscilla Jennings, Mrs. C. W. Nibley, Mrs. C. R. Savage, Mrs. O. C. Beebe, Mrs. Emma Woodruff, Mrs. John R. Winder, Mrs. Carl Woodruff, Mrs. Joseph J. Daynes, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Sharp, Mrs. T. H. Williams, Mrs. John Midgley, Mrs. George D. Pyper, Mrs. C. D. Harding, Mrs. Will McTune, Mrs. H. Case, Mrs. A. Jensen, Mrs. F. Brooks, Mrs. H. S. Margetts, Mrs. A. E. Margetts, Mrs. George Romney, Mrs. Ed Chamberlain, Mrs. A. Barnes, Mrs. Vilate Romney, Mrs. Edna S. Smith, Mrs. S. Ruddy, Mrs. F. Brown, Mrs. Will McDonald, Mrs. J. G. McDonald, Mrs. James McDonald, Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. George McDonald, Mrs. F. E. Margetts, the Misses Minnie Smith, Eleanor Margetts, Urania White and Helen Croft.

Mrs. Sylvester Q. Cannon entertained in honor of Miss Clarice Saville Tuesday evening, when fifty guests were present to meet the bride-elect, whose marriage takes place in June. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. R. F. Wright and Mrs. J. T. Young. Snowballs and sprays of bridal wreath prettily decorated the rooms, and music and games were the features of the afternoon, each guest receiving a pretty souvenir of the occasion.

A beautifully arranged dinner was given during the week by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Quigley, which was one of a series of farewell affairs to be given in anticipation of the absence of the hostess in Europe during the summer. Pink roses and rosebuds were used with charming effect on the table. A large crystal basket filled with roses graced the center, with smaller ones of the rosebuds at either end, the handles being tied with graceful bows of pink tulle. The Hawaiian Troubadours gave delightful selections during the dinner, and the artistic hand-painted place cards were laid for sixteen guests. Bridge followed in the evening.

Mrs. Arnold Reiser was pleasantly surprised Monday evening at her home by the members of the Barabara club in honor of her birthday. Sixty-three were played, and the prizes were won by Mrs. T. Reiser, Mrs. L. Stewart, W. E. Derr and G. Lindgren. The house was decorated with snowballs, and supper was served at the close of the evening. The Barabara club was also entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Wesley E. Derr, when fourteen members were present. In the game of sixty-three played the prizes were won by Mrs. C. Rawlins and Miss Oakage. Luncheon was served from a table prettily decorated with roses and wild flowers.

Mrs. M. A. Johnson was surprised at her home Monday evening by a number of her old friends on her birthday anniversary. A pleasant social time was enjoyed and supper served later.

The members of the Thursday Card club and their husbands met last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hotter in Fourth avenue, the affair being in the nature of a surprise to Mr. Weyher on his birthday anniversary. Cards were the amusement of the evening.

Thursday evening the members of the Theta Upsilon and friends enjoyed a pleasant dancing party at the home of Miss Alice Wells. The affair, though given in honor of Miss Wells, was a social affair, and the sixteen couples present enjoyed a delightful evening.

Mrs. I. R. Barton entertained her card party Wednesday afternoon, when the game was followed by a prettily appointed luncheon.

Coming Events

The week starts out with the promise of unusual gaiety. The presence of Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes is always the signal for numerous social functions on the part of her many friends. The return of Mrs. E. A. Weyher and her charming daughters will add an impetus to the social whirl, as is also the case with Mrs. James L. Franken and Miss Webber, after a year's absence abroad.

Mrs. Prentiss N. Gray and Mrs. Albert R. Hagar are popular guests in social circles, as well as Mrs. Harry Dinwoody's guests, Mrs. Will Dinwoody and Mrs. Kendispire of California.

Mrs. Clarence E. Allen has issued invitations for an afternoon tea from 3 to 5 o'clock tomorrow at her home, 929 First avenue, to meet her daughter, Mrs. Harry C. Gay.

Tomorrow afternoon at "The Porches," the home of Mrs. George Y. Wallace, the East Side guild of St. Mark's cathedral parish will give a card party, the proceeds of which will go toward the furnishing of the boys' dormitory of the new Orphans' Home and Day Nursery. The affair will be one of the social events of the week.

A large number of tables have been reserved by the society women who will entertain parties of friends, but there are still a few left that may be secured by communicating with Mrs. Wallace.

Miss Afton Young will entertain in honor of Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes at luncheon Tuesday, at her home, "Red Butte Hollow."

Mrs. Heber M. Wells will be the hostess at a bridge tea Tuesday afternoon, given in compliment to Mrs. Will Dinwoody and Mrs. Kendispire, who will also be the guests of honor Thursday afternoon at an afternoon affair given by Mrs. Frank Jennings.

Mrs. M. T. Bailey and daughter, Mrs. C. H. Post, have invitations out for bridge teas on the afternoons of Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

An interesting social event of the week will be the parents' meeting to be held Friday evening, May 20, at the Lafayette school, given under the auspices of the educational committee of the Utah Federation of Women's clubs. All of the children of the grade schools are to invite their parents, and the committee is arranging an attractive program in connection with the event. The Lafayette school orchestra will be a delightful feature. Superintendent Christensen will speak and refreshments will be served by Mrs. Selden Clawson, chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by a bevy of young girls. The educational committee, who has the success of the pleasant affair in hand, are Miss Lucille Franke, chairman; Mrs. C. G. Plummer, Mrs. Selden Clawson, Mrs. Frank T. Roberts, Mrs. Lydia D. Alder, Mrs. L. Marcell and Mrs. Mary M. Ryan.

Tomorrow evening the senior branch of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Mark's cathedral parish will entertain in honor of Miss Preale Clark and Miss Teresa Godbe, two June brides-elect, at a kitchen shower given at the home of Miss Spalding, 444 East First South street.

The Women's bridge club at Fort Douglas will be entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. M. Arrasmith.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bagley will entertain Monday evening at a five hundred party.

A lawn party is being arranged for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly society of the Episcopal churches of the city, to be held at Rowland Hall in

THERE is a musical feature unique to Salt Lake that is attempted in no other city of this country. The daily Tabernacle organ recitals, which are given throughout the summer season, are an attraction to tourists whose benefits it is impossible to overestimate. It is estimated that not less than 100,000 persons attend these recitals each year, of which the mat-reds of special recitals are given throughout the season by Professor McClellan for distinguished visitors and friends of the townspeople. During his work at the University of Michigan with Professor A. A. Stanley, who holds the chair of music there, Professor McClellan received the inception of the idea which later developed into the daily organ recital, now one of the city's most popular institutions.

As now given, the programs usually include four numbers—the first a brilliant overture, the second a group of lighter pieces, of which one is always an "old melody," third, a popular selection, and fourth, another classical organ number. The recitals are given daily by Professor McClellan and his assistant organists, Tracy Y. Cannon and Edward P. Kimball, each giving two a week.

The following attractive program has been arranged for the coming joint recital to be given by Professor McClellan and Miss Lillian Oliver at the First Congregational church, Monday evening, May 16:

The Graham music bureau is about to enter a field heretofore occupied wholly by eastern lyceum bureaus, that of furnishing musical and literary programs for educational institutions in the small towns throughout the state. The popular lecture courses which are so large a factor of a season's amusements will be arranged and the artists sent out from Salt Lake by Fred C. Graham, manager of the local bureau. The commercial clubs and educational institutions in many of the small towns have signified their intention of welcoming the Salt Lake lecturers and the regular daily recitals, many hun-

the near future. The money derived from it will defray the expenses of the girls' summer camp. Mrs. J. J. Broughall is chairman of arrangements, and has named the following committees: Music, Mrs. C. I. Stevenson and Mrs. M. L. Ritchie; refreshments, Mrs. Alvah Lewis; decorating, Miss Edith McGuire, Miss Godbe and Mrs. A. P. Reid; heating, Mrs. T. H. Fitzgerald and Mrs. J. S. Birch; fortune telling, Mrs. W. P. Kiser; Miss Lucille Franke; candy, Miss Spalding and Miss Godbe, assisted by the Girls' Friendly society of St. Paul's. The Girls' Friendly society of St. Peter's and St. John's missions will also have a flower booth. Mrs. Broughall, assisted by all branches of the Girls' Friendly, will have charge of the sale of tickets. Anyone wishing to make a donation towards this fund may do so by conferring with Mrs. Broughall.

Mrs. H. C. Edwards will be one of the hostesses of the week at a bridge tea Friday afternoon, given in compliment to Mrs. U. G. Moser, who leaves in June for Seattle to reside.

On Friday evening in Whitney hall a dancing party will be given by Miss Fae Lambert, Miss Rowena Rogers and Miss Virginia Snow.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club will meet this week with Mrs. W. L. Ellerbeck.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Wight will entertain this afternoon with a dinner given for the visiting members of the A. B. U. S. of Park City.

Madame Amanda Swenson and Miss Lillian Oliver will give an "Evening of Music" tomorrow in the First Congregational church.

The members of Lloyd Alliance have made arrangements for a social affair in the nature of a card party, to be given Thursday evening in Unity hall. Any one wishing to reserve tables may apply to Mrs. John F. Cowan, Mrs. George H. Raybould and Mrs. A. G. Mahan.

Mrs. L. M. Bailey of 127 South Twelfth East street will entertain the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. An invitation is extended to all interested to attend and enjoy the excellent program, which consists of a paper on Siam by Miss Ethel Paul. A talk by Mrs. Thomas Weir on her recent trip to Hawaii will be followed by a vocal solo by Miss Hilda Greeson and instrumental selections by Miss De Camp. Strangers are most cordially welcomed.

Weddings and Engagements

Invitations have been received by friends in Salt Lake from Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ridge, for the marriage of their daughter, Elsie Chelton, to Dr. William G. B. Terrell Wednesday evening, June 1, at 8 o'clock, 221 West Armour street, Kansas City, Mo. At home after July 1, Salt Lake.
